Et dybt dyk ned i oprindelsen til Russia-gate. LaRouche PAC Internat. Webcast, 11/8 2017

Det, jeg vil gøre her i dag, er at fremlægge den dokumentation, der viser, at det, vi i realiteten har her, ikke er en russisk indblanding i USA's interne anliggender; men at det snarere er en særdeles dirigeret indblanding på vegne af Det britiske Imperium. Dette er, hvad man burde efterforske, i modsætning til det såkaldte »aftalte spil« mellem præsident Trumps valgkampagneteam og så russerne. Det er meget vigtigt at dokumentere dette, og det er absolut afgørende, at dette kup stoppes; for, på dette tidspunkt i verdenshistorien, befinder vi os på randen af et nyt finanssammenbrud, langt større end i 2008. Vi befinder os i en situation, hvor briterne, for at opretholde deres bankerotte finanssystem, der har hjemsted i City of London og på Wall Street, har helliget sig til at bringe den amerikanske præsident til fald for at forhindre, at alternativet til dette sammenbrud bliver realiseret. ...

Vært Jason Ross: Det er den 11. aug., 2017 og dette er fredags-webcastet på at larouchepac.com. Jeg er Jason Ross og aftenens vært. Vi har en særlig gæst i dag; Will Wertz, medlem af EIR's redaktion. Vi hører fra Will om et øjeblik.

I forbindelsen med aftenens show vil vi diskutere noget, vi har talt en hel del om på dette program og denne webside; og det er memorandaet fra VIPS, Veteran Intelligence Professionals for Sanity, der på en meget afgørende måde, baseret på computerteknisk efterforskning og Adam Carter, viser, at det russiske hack var et inside-job. Dette er forsiden af The Hamiltonian-avisen i denne uge, der kommer direkte til sagen; og denne historie udgives nu af store publikationer, inkl. The Nation ugemagasinet og Bloomberg News. Meget af den måde, dette er blevet præsenteret på, eller meget af den måde, hvorpå Russia-gate-kuppet mod Donald Trump opfattes af folk, der forstår, at det er et kup, er, at 'deep state'-apparatet kører en operation for at afsætte præsidenten og selv afgøre amerikansk politik.

Vi skal i dag høre fra Will Wertz, der vil dykke dybere ned i dette og hjælpe os til at forstå, at der ligger meget mere i dette end det, der kaldes 'deep state'. Roden til denne kupoperation går ud over USA's grænser og går på fremtrædende vis til Storbritannien, til det endnu eksisterende Britiske Imperium. Lad os gå over til Will: Hvad kan du fortælle os om de dybere følgeslutninger, vi bør træffe ud fra dette kupforsøg mod præsidenten? Hvad betyder det; hvor kommer det fra?

Will Wertz: Lyndon LaRouche kom med følgende kommentar:

»Det amerikanske folk må kræve, at det igangværende, forræderiske, britiske kup mod det amerikanske præsidentskab og selve nationen må stoppes, og gerningsmændene retsforfølges og fængsles. Det britiske system må opgives, og præsidenten må intet middel sky for at redde dette lands befolkning, og resten af menneskeheden, fra yderligere britiskdirigerede afsavn mod deres liv. Opgiv det britiske system; red folket.«

Det, jeg vil gøre her i dag, er at fremlægge den dokumentation, der viser, at det, vi i realiteten har her, ikke er en russisk indblanding i USA's interne anliggender; men at det snarere er en særdeles dirigeret indblanding på vegne af Det britiske Imperium. Dette er, hvad man burde efterforske, i modsætning til det såkaldte »aftalte spil« mellem præsident Trumps valgkampagneteam og så russerne. Det er meget vigtigt at dokumentere dette, og det er absolut afgørende, at dette kup stoppes; for, på dette tidspunkt i verdenshistorien, befinder vi os på randen af et finanssammenbrud, langt større end i 2008. Vi befinder os i en situation, hvor briterne, for at opretholde deres bankerotte finanssystem, der har hjemsted i City of London og på Wall Street, har helliget sig til at bringe den amerikanske præsident til fald for at forhindre, at alternativet til dette sammenbrud bliver realiseret. Alternativet til sammenbrud er det, Lyndon LaRouche har kaldt Firemagtskonceptet; en alliance mellem USA, Rusland, Kina og potentielt Indien, og som repræsenterer den industrielle magt på denne planet og det overvældende flertal af verdens befolkning. Denne kombination kan løse bogstavelig talt ethvert problem, vi konfronteres med på planeten Jord, og hinsides. For eksempel kræver krisen over Koreahalvøen et samarbejde mellem USA, Kina og Rusland; hvor de to sidstnævnte er naboer til Nord- og Sydkorea. Kampen mod terrorisme i Mellemøsten og Nordafrika, som strækker sig endnu længere end dette, kræver et sådant samarbejde. Genopbygningen af verdensøkonomien kræver et sådant samarbejde – især gennem, at USA slutter sig til bestræbelserne, som Kina har initieret – den såkaldte Silkevej eller Bælte & Vej Initiativet, som Lyndon og Helga LaRouche i årtier har kæmpet for og refereret til som Verdenslandbroen.

Alle disse problemer kan løses med dette samarbejde; og dette samarbejde ville ødelægge Det britiske Imperium én gang for alle. Det er, hvad der i øjeblikket står på spil. Jeg vil også påpege, at Det britiske Imperium rent historisk har været helliget massiv befolkningsreduktion, folkemord, og en reducering af verdens befolkning fra de nuværende mere end 6 mia. og til 1 mia. mennesker. Dette imperium er villigt til at bringe verden til randen af atomkrig med sin geopolitiske strategi mod Rusland og Kina. Det er det underliggende spørgsmål, der ligger bag det aktuelle forsøg på at gennemføre et kup mod USA's præsident.

Beviserne for den britiske involvering er gennemskuelige. Donald Trump annoncerede sin præsidentkampagne den 16. juni, 2015. Der var en artikel i The Guardian af 13. april, 2017. Her siger de, at »britisk efterretning blev først i slutningen af 2015« — dvs. få måneder efter, at Donald Trump annoncerede sin præsidentvalgkampagne - »opmærksom på det, det kaldte 'mistænkelige interaktioner' mellem personer med tilknytning til Trump og kendte eller mistænkte russiske agenter«. Artiklens titel lyder, 'British Spies Were First to Spot Trump Team's Links with Russia'. I artiklen siger de, at disse såkaldte 'interaktioner' først blev afdækket af noget, der hedder Government Communications Headquarters - GCHQ, hvilket svarer til NSA. De gør meget ud af at pointere, at, »det er klart, at GCHQ på intet tidspunkt udførte en operation rettet mod Trump eller hans team, eller proaktivt søgte information. De angivelige samtaler blev opsnappet ved et tilfælde.«

De siger også, at GCHQ spillede en fremtrædende rolle på et tidligt tidspunkt, hvor de kickstartede FBI's efterforskning af Trump-Rusland, og som begyndte i slutningen af juli, 2016. Husk, at det Republikanske Konvent, der nominerede Donald Trump, fandt sted fra 18.-21. juli, 2016. Så GCHQ følger Donald Trump få måneder efter hans annoncering Republikanernes nominering til præsidentkandidat; og GCHQ kickstarter FBI's efterforskning af Donald Trump, sandsynligvis få dage efter hans nominering i juli 2016. Artiklen siger, »FBI og CIA forstod kun langsomt arten af de angivelige kontakter mellem Trumps associerede folk og russere. Dette skyldtes til dels amerikansk lov, der forbyder amerikanske tjenester at undersøge amerikanske borgeres private kommunikationer uden en retskendelse. De var uddannede til ikke at gøre dette.« Den lov, de henviser til, er selvfølgelig USA's Forfatning; som amerikanske efterretningstjenester desværre ikke har overholdt så nøje, som Edward Snowden afslørede.

De rapporterer dernæst, at Robert Hannigan, chef for GCHQ, i sommeren 2016 videregav materiale til CIA-chef John Brennan; og at Brennan brugte denne information til at lancere en stor efterforskning på tværs af tjenesterne, af et internt anliggende. Så det er et spørgsmål, om det er en overtrædelse af CIA's charter, at en sådan efterforskning overhovedet lanceres; og dernæst at briefe lederskabet i de Demokratiske og Republikanske formandsskaber og højtplacerede medlemmer af Husets og Senatets Efterretningskomiteer om denne information, som endnu i dag ikke er blevet bekræftet.

Dette er altså britisk efterretnings indblanding i valgene. Føj hertil dossieret, der blev udarbejdet af den såkaldte »tidligere« MI6-agent Christopher Steele. Dette har fungeret som køreplanen for FBI's efterforskning. Kopier af det blev givet direkte til FBI, hvis ikke af GCHQ, så af MI-6. Vi ved, at John McCain gav FBI en kopi, da han fik en sådan kopi. Hvad har vi så her mht. Christopher Steele? Han er en tidligere MI-6-agent; han arbejde under dække af det Britiske Udenrigsministerium i ambassaden i Moskva, men var en efterretningsagent. Tilbage i 2009 dannede han et selskab ved navn Orbis Business Executives. Fra mindst 2010 og frem havde han arbejdet med FBI's Enhed for Eurasisk Organiseret Kriminalitet, med hjemsted i New York City. Samme år, som Orbis Business Executives blev lanceret - 2009 - blev et andet selskab lanceret i USA, ved navn Fusion GPS; samme år. Så tidligt som i 2010, iflg. retslige dokumenter, havde disse to såkaldte selskaber en fortrolighedsaftale. Så selv om den officielle historie er, at Fusion GPS hyrede Orbis Business Executives til at udføre efterforskning af politiske modstandere imod Donald Trump på vegne af Hillary Clinton, så er kendsgerningen den, at disse to selskaber har arbejdet siden deres oprettelse i 2009; og sammen fortrolighedsaftale går tilbage til året efter, 2010. Denne fortrolighedsaftale bruges af Fusion GPS som en grund til ikke at overgive information til Senatets Retsudvalg, som har krævet det i forbindelse med dette dossier.

Så hvad har vi her? Vi har GCHQ, der kickstarter en efterforskning gennem international overvågning; vi har tidligere MI-6-agent Christopher Steele, der får information fra russere, som i dette tilfælde ikke er særlig pålideligt; bruger dette som en køreplan til at lancere efterforskning af USA's præsident efter, han var valgt. Det bør påpeges, at en af hovedpersonerne i FBI, der har været involveret i dette, er den tidligere, fungerende direktør for FBI. Han var fungerende direktør efter Comey gik, og han er nu erstattet af Christopher Wray. Men Andrew McCabe var i sin tidligere karriere chef for FBI's Enhed for Eurasisk Organiseret Kriminalitet i New York City. Senator Grassley har sendt en hel række spørgsmål til vicejustitsminister Rod Rosenstein om Andrew McCabe; for mistanken går ud på, at Andrew McCabe var direkte involveret som Christopher Steeles manager. Det bør ligeledes påpeges, at, på et vist tidspunkt, havde FBI i tankerne at betale Christopher Steele for at fortsætte sin såkaldte efterforskning. Det spørgsmål, som Grassley stiller, er, var McCabe involveret specifikt i denne situation? Man må her forstå, at Andrew McCabe aktuelt er under efterforskning, fordi han var involveret i en beslutning om, at hans kone, Jill McCabe, skulle stille op til delstatssenator for staten Virginia mod senator Dick Black. Dette blev arrangeret gennem guvernør McAuliffe, en nær tilhænger af Hillary Clinton; som på det tidspunkt blev efterforsket af også at have været involveret McCabe menes efterforskningen af Hillary Clintons e-mails. Der er her tale om en total interessekonflikt på vegne af McCabe; som måske var hovedpersonen, der arbejde hos FBI med Christopher Steele.

Dette er forbindelsesleddet til Det britiske Imperium, som er direkte involveret i operationen imod USA's præsident. Dens formål er at ødelægge USA's præsidentskab, så præsident Trump ikke kan udvikle samarbejdsrelationer med Rusland og Kina i særdeleshed, i kampen mod terrorisme; og ikke kan arbejde på at bringe USA ind i et samarbejde med Rusland og Kina omkring perspektivet for Bælte & Vej, som ville være afgørende for at udvikle USA's økonomi ved hjælp af det amerikanske systems metoder.

Jeg tror, vi slutter her og hører, hvilke spørgsmål, I har.

Her følger resten af webcastet i engelsk udskrift:

ROSS: I think you really pulled together the British origin of the whole Russia story around Trump; and it's sort of shocking thing that this dossier of material that was compiled by Steele, who as you note is a "former" MI-6 agent. If it's dirt on Trump coming from Russians, apparently that's fine to launch an investigation about using the CIA and the FBI. But the mere suspicion that Donald Trump might have gotten dirt on Hillary from Russians by any means — regardless of a hack or just getting information — is considered to be proof of some nefarious act.

Let me ask you; you had discussed the difference in orientation between what the motivation would be behind a British outlook versus what America might do. Just as a reminder for our viewers, we're now four years into a process that was launched in September 2013 when President Xi Jinping of China, in a speech in Kazakhstan, announced the One Belt, One Road Initiative; which has now come to encompass dozens of countries around the world and hundreds of billions of dollars towards infrastructure and other cooperative investments. So there's really a new game in town taking shape on the planet. Could you describe for us or help us understand how the British view this; or understand the difference in outlook between British geopolitics compared to what the United States could adopt as a national policy orientation?

WERTZ: Yes. May I have photo 1? Now, the British policy is a policy of geopolitics; and this is a longstanding policy. In 1919, Halford Mackinder wrote a paper entitled "The Geographical Pivot of History". What he wrote there in summary is as follows: Who rules East Europe commands the Heartland. Who rules the Heartland commands the world island. Who rules the world island commands the world. As you can see from this graphic, Russia is the pivot area; the heartland. Surrounding it is an area which is called the Inner Crescent; which today would be called the Arc of Crisis, as defined by another geopolitician, Bernard Lewis. Who was born in Britain, but later became an American citizen. That's the policy that we've been carrying out. Who rules East Europe? Think about the move eastward by NATO to the very borders of Russia. Think about the policy of regime change in the entire Arc of Crisis area indicated here as the Inner Crescent surrounding Russia. This is the policy was also implemented under Zbigniew Brzezinski during the Carter administration. We see it today; it's continuing today with the regime change policies in Libya, in Egypt before it was reversed by el-Sisi against Morsi. We see it in Iraq beginning in 2003; we see it today in the attempt in Syria. Before that, we saw it in Afghanistan, and that's still a crisis today. We see it in Ukraine today. This is the geopolitical policy of the British which led to World War II by the way, because this was the policy of Hitler. The Mackinder policy was picked up Haushofer, who was instrumental in defining Hitler's policy of marching East to Russia — the Soviet Union at that time. So this is the geopolitical policy which is operative today.

Contrast that now to the World Land-Bridge policy — photo 2, please. This is the policy proposed by Lyndon and Helga LaRouche. As you see, the world island is essentially Asia, Europe, and Africa. This policy is not limited to the so-called world island; this is a policy for all of humanity, extending into the Western Hemisphere. The policy is one of economic development. As the Chinese say, a "win-win" strategy; peace based upon economic development. That is the central conception, so as to realize the actual potential of humanity for further improvements in its standard of living, its quality of mentation, and its ability not only to develop the planet Earth for man's benefit, but eventually to colonize outer space; which is man's fundamental mission.

So, these are the two contrasting views; and what Americans and others throughout the world need to know is the British Empire is alive, and it is carrying out the same policy which it has carried out at least over the last 100 years, which has led previously to world wars, and threatens to lead to world wars today. But there is an alternative, which is the World Land-Bridge, the One Belt, One Road policy; the Silk Road, which has been adopted by a vast majority of countries throughout the world.

ROSS: You talked about the British Empire and the geopolitical objectives of Halford Mackinder. This is sometime in the past; you had mentioned its link to Adolf Hitler's orientation towards attacking to the East. But today, I think that most people believe that there is no British Empire; or that the power of the British Empire has waned so dramatically from its peak that it's hardly a driving force in world affairs today.

Why do you speak about the importance of the British Empire? How important is it today? What's its power? How does it exist?

WERTZ: Please show photos 4 and 3. Most people don't understand that the British Empire is really based upon the Venetian system. Venice was not big in terms of military forces, or geography; it's a city. Yet, the Venetian system, as a financial system, was an imperial system; and the British system from its inception is modeled upon that financial imperial system. The goals of the British Empire are really totally anti-human. You could compare it to the Greek mythological figure of Zeus, who did not want mankind to develop; did not want mankind to have science; did not want mankind to have technology.

In opposition to that, you had Prometheus, who gave man fire; science; the means of developing the human mind so as to further the mission of humanity. The British policy is fundamentally a policy of financial imperialism, particularly after World War and it is also a policy based upon a perspective of destroying the notion of the sovereign nation-state; of reducing world population from the current levels of over 6 billion to a level of 1 billion or less, as I said earlier.

I want to just indicate two of the leading figures in developing the British conception of empire. One is H.G. Wells.

who wrote a piece called {The Open Conspiracy} in the year 1928.

What he said in that is the following: "It lies within the power of the Atlantic communities to impose a world state, a world directorate upon the world. The open conspiracy rests upon a disrespect for national sovereignty. Its main political idea, its political strategy is to weaken, deface, incorporate, or supersede existing governments. It considers all existing governments as entirely provisional in nature." At one point he says, "There will be little need for a President." That's the policy of H.G. Wells. As you can see, this is the policy of so-called limited sovereignty; it's the policy of supernational institutions. Like for instance, the European Union has become.

As you can see, the basic idea is to eliminate national sovereignty, create super-national institutions in which you'd have no need for a President. Of course that's the view that the British take today. They would just as soon there not be a President who would assert the principle of national sovereignty and develop the people through developing the economy of the nation, and working with other nations to have the same effect in respect to the world population.

Bertrand Russell. Lyndon LaRouche at one point called Bertrand Russell the most evil man of the 20th Century. He's often known as an advocate of peace. Well, H.G. Wells made the same kind of argument for world peace; that was the justification for dictatorial methods. In the case of Bertrand Russell, after World War II Bertrand Russell actually proposed — when he thought the United States had a monopoly on nuclear weapons — that the United States threaten to use nuclear weapons against the then Soviet Union. He was not able to act on that idea, because as it turned out, the Soviet Union developed nuclear weapons. But let me just read an interchange with Bertrand Russell on this subject. He was asked, "Is it true or untrue that in recent years you advocate that a preventive war might be made against Communism, against Soviet Russia?" Russell: entirely true. And I don't repent of it now. It was not inconsistent with what I think now. There was a time just after the last war when the Americans had a monopoly of nuclear weapons and offered to internationalize nuclear weapons by the Baruch Proposal. I thought this was an extremely generous proposal on their part. One which it would be very desirable that the world should accept. Not that I advocated a nuclear war; but I did think that great pressure should be put upon Russia to accept the Baruch Proposal, and I did think that if they continued to refuse, it might be necessary actually to go to war. At that time, nuclear weapons existed only on one side, and therefore the odds were, the Russians would have given way. I thought they would." Question: "Suppose they hadn't given way?" Russell:

thought and hoped that the Russians would give way. But of course, you can't threaten unless you're prepared to have your bluff called."

So, this is the policy of Bertrand Russell; to create a one world directorate as in the case of H.G. Wells, and to threaten preemptive nuclear war against the then-Soviet Union in order to enforce such a perspective. Now we are once again on the verge of, in this case, thermonuclear war; and that is the policy of the British Empire. The British basically view war as one means by which they can reduce world population.

ROSS: In going after British policy, this seems to be something that very clearly the U.S. has been opposed to since its inception. The American Revolution, the first of the complaints in the Declaration of Independence wasn't about taxation without representation; it was that the King had refused his assent to laws that were necessary for the common good. I think the way that you posed things, in terms of Zeus and Prometheus, Between having power by preventing others from developing versus causing and fostering development is a very good way to look at the way at the relationship between the British Empire and the U.S. over our history.

This must have shifted at some point given that there's so many factions in the U.S. now who are adopting policies that sound very much like British policies — the "responsibility to protect" doctrine, which was announced by Prime Minister Tony Blair in Chicago a decade ago. This has become sort of an orthodoxy almost in Washington, D.C., where it's considered perfectly natural to intervene in nations that aren't posing any particular threat to the U.S., in order to prevent some internal calamity, used as an excuse to cause the chaos that we've seen in Libya, the mess that we've seen in Syria, etc. So can you tell us more about this shift? Has this always been a fight inside the United States, or when did the U.S. begin to adopt an almost British outlook on foreign affairs?

WERTZ: It's important for people to maintain a perspective involving a long arc of history. People know in this country that the United States fought, before it became officially the United States and adopted a Constitution, fought a Revolution against the British Empire. In 1812, it was the British who burned down the White House. This has been an ongoing conflict between the British and the United States. And when I'm referring to the British, I'm not referring to the British people, that should be very clear; I'm referring to the British Monarchy, the British Empire as a system of government. Now, the British also supported the Confederacy in the Civil War. And Lincoln was assassinated at the end of that war by individuals who it is believed were actually funded by the British, specifically by one James Bulloch, the uncle of Theodore Roosevelt, who was based in Great Britain during the entire Civil War, and was essentially the foreign agent of Confederacy based in Britain.

But the United States was able to proceed after the Civil War, and I think it became clear to the British that they were not going to be able to take over the United States by military means, as in the Revolution, the War of 1812, or the Civil War, but rather they had to use other means; although those other means continued to involve assassination. One of the key breaking points in the whole process was the assassination of President McKinley in 1901, and of course the person who became President at that point was Theodore Roosevelt. This is in the period leading into World War I, and under McKinley, and prior to his assassination, the United States had very close relations with Germany under Bismarck, with Russia, with Japan. And this was reversed by Teddy Roosevelt, who established the so-called U.S.-British "special relationship." And undoubtedly his uncle and the influence of his uncle on Teddy Roosevelt played a critical role in his perspective.

Now, Franklin Roosevelt had a completely different perspective. He traced his heritage back to Isaac Roosevelt, who worked closely with Alexander Hamilton, and Roosevelt's entire policy was based on the American System of economy, the same kind of American System of economy which President Trump has, in recent speeches in Kentucky, Detroit, and elsewhere, advocated, including Glass-Steagall.

Now, during World War II, the British who had backed Hitler, had backed Mussolini, had backed Franco, realized when Hitler turned westward into France and threatened Great Britain, that they needed the United States to defeat Hitler at that point. And what you have from that point on, is a situation where the British operated in the United States to help bring the United States into that war. But when Roosevelt died, what happened, is that the British took over, once again. Not fully, but you had a situation where the British began a process of trying to reverse what Roosevelt had done. And during World War II there was a famous meeting between Roosevelt and Churchill. Do you have photo 5? [Stalin, FDR, Churchill at Tehran 1943] There was a famous meeting between Roosevelt and Churchill [April 1941] reported by Roosevelt's son, Elliot Roosevelt, in which Franklin Roosevelt said, we're not fighting World War II in order to preserve the British Empire, but rather, after this war we're going to use American System methods of economic development to develop the entire world and to end colonialism altogether. When Roosevelt died, the British, through Churchill, through their intelligence agencies, and through Harry Truman, moved to begin the process of attempting to bring the United States into this British Empire orbit, and that has been the ongoing conflict that we've had over the last 70 years or more. And it's not resolved to this day and it has to be resolved by defeating the British Empire.

During World War II, the British set up intelligence operations in the United States, — can I have pictures, 6, 7, and 8. There was an individual by the name of Sir William S. Stephenson, you see him there, Canadian born. He set up something called the British covert operations which operated under the cover of the British Security Coordination, which was located in Rockefeller Center. And they ran covert operations in the United States during this whole period, basically from 1939 through 1944, and he represented both MI6 and MI5; he worked directly with Allen Dulles who had an office in the same building, on the same floor as Stephenson. Dulles, of course, later became head of the CIA, until he was relieved of duty by John F. Kennedy. Stephenson also worked very closely with the FBI, with J. Edgar Hoover.

So, in a certain sense, this apparatus, from that period, consolidated after Roosevelt's death, and for instance, in 1946.

there was something signed called the "U.K.-U.S.A. Agreement" and it was an agreement to have intelligence collaboration between the U.S. and the U.K. in respect to the Soviet Union and the East bloc countries. This later was transformed into the "Five Eyes," which was the United States, U.K., Australia, New Zealand, and Canada. So in a very real sense, the United States became a part of the British Empire intelligence apparatus. And what we see today with GCHQ/MI6, their work with Brennan at the CIA, with Comey and McCabe at the FBI, and Clapper [as DNI], is a continuation of that U.S.-U.K. Agreement. The surveillance was done under the codename "Echelon" and it's still being done under that name; even after the Soviet Union collapsed, it's directed against the former Soviet Union and East bloc countries. And that is what we see today, as I said. As Snowden, in describing this relationship said, the Five Eyes are a "supranational intelligence organization that doesn't answer to the known laws of its own countries." So that's the picture I can give you.

ROSS: This is a you might say chilling picture, a very scary picture. What is it that we ought to do? This is much bigger I think than people, even those who understand that a coup is in process or that Russia-gate is a whole bunch of baloney, this is a lot deeper than what most people believe they're up against. I think you put out a very good picture of what we're up against, what the mission is; could you lay out for our viewers what ought to be done: How do we fight against this? and what do we create in its stead? What's our objective here?

WERTZ: Lyndon LaRouche yesterday said that we have to "pour it on." We have to really escalate the mobilization to get a breakthrough in respect to the VIPS memorandum which we discussed at the very beginning. The whole edifice of the lie that the Russians interfered in the elections, that the Trump campaign colluded with the Russians, is about to fall. And we have to make sure that it falls. As you indicated in the beginning, the VIPS memo was produced in July, it was sent to the President, it's been sent to the Justice Department, it's been widely circulated. We, in our movement, got out something like 100 copies of the VIPS memo in offices in Washington, D.C. two weeks ago, concentrating on the Intelligence Committees of both the House and Senate, as well as the Judiciary Committee. We also got this out, this week, at the Old Executive Office Building in Washington, D.C. and at the Justice Department.

And the story is beginning to break: You mentioned the article in {The Nation}. This is a very powerful article that just appeared, and what the author, Patrick Lawrence, says is the following: "Under no circumstance can it be acceptable that

relevant authorities the National Security Agency, the Justice Department (via the Federal Bureau of Investigation), and the Central Intelligence Agencyleave these new findings without reply."

[https://www.thenation.com/article/unverified-russiagate-allegations-promoted-by-an-irresponsible-congress-and-media-have-become-a-grave-threat-to-american-national-security/] Now, the company that the DNC hired, CrowdStrike, the one that claimed that they had evidence that the Russians had hacked the DNC computers, they just said, "we continue to stand by our report," arguing that by July 5th, all malware had been removed from the DNC's computers. But as Patrick Lawrence points out, "But the presence or absence of malware by that time is entirely immaterial, because the event of July 5 is proven to have been leak and not a hack."

The point here is, you have {The Nation} article, you have Newsmax, which gave coverage to this; Bloomberg had an article yesterday on the VIPS and their conclusions. What's required is for the American people to take back their country and ensure that the Constitution survives, that the republic of the United States survives. We have to mobilize to force a situation where, instead of investigating Trump, what should be investigated is the British role in all of this and the role of members of U.S.

intelligence in participating in this attempt at a coup against the United States of America and against the President of the United States of America. John Brennan recently argued that if President Trump were to fire Mueller as Special Counsel, that members of the Executive should refuse to obey his orders: That's a call for a coup by the ex-CIA director.

So as Lyndon LaRouche said at the beginning, we've got to cancel the British system, we've got to save our people. What's being run in this country is the equivalent of the British Opium War against China, from 1800s in the opioid and more widespread drug addiction that's destroying this country. We have to free the President, to be able to carry out the policies which he least has indicated he has an intention to implement, to the benefit of this country and the benefit of the world. That's the issue that's before us right now.

So what I would encourage every American citizen to do, is to contact the President: Tell him, that he has their support to move on this issue. It was not a hack, it was a leak. A lie has been used as a pretext for overthrowing the President of the United States, and it's being conducted by a foreign government, in collusion with traitors in the United States like Brennan and others. So those people should be investigated; and here you have a situation where a crime was allegedly committed at the DNC. The DNC hired its own private investigator; the private investigator announced what the conclusion of its investigation was. The police were never invited to the scene. They never secured the crime scene, they never investigated the crime scene, the computers have never been seen by the FBI. This is completely preposterous!

And the entire country has been put in jeopardy as a result of something which is unheard of! Have you ever heard of a crime where the police were not allowed to secure the crime scene and investigate the crime? And the alleged victim of the crime, who's now carrying out a campaign against the President of the United States, is allowed to determine how the investigation is conducted and also what the conclusion of the investigation is.

So this is intolerable! And as Patrick Lawrence said, it cannot stand that there is not a reply. The forensic evidence is solid. It is presented by experts from the NSA itself, who know how this is done.

So we have to ensure that this lie collapses immediately, that the people involved in this coup against the President are investigated and imprisoned if found guilty. That is what's required. So contact the President, tell him that you support him, and go in public with this. Demand that the representatives of the VIPS be allowed to testify before the various committees of Congress, to get at the bottom of this crime which has been committed against our President and against our country.

And if we do that, then we create the basis for collaboration between the United States, Russia, China, and India, which, as Lyndon LaRouche said in his four powers concept, is the necessary means for dismantling the British Empire once and for all. What we need to do, is destroy Zeus and free Prometheus. ROSS: Great. Our viewers have got an opportunity to join in on this. You've mentioned many of the ways that this can occur, and there's many things that supporters and activists are doing — holding rallies at their town hall, going to congressional meetings or on congressional teleconferences and bringing up the VIPS memo, bringing up the Russia-gate fraud. We're urging people to take pictures of their activities about this, take pictures of getting out the material about the Russia-gate fraud, and mark it "#Russia-gate fraud"; let everybody know and spread the word about this. We have a petition to the President, where we're asking

Donald Trump not to try to hope that this Russia thing goes away, but to take it on directly, to "investigate this British subversion of the United States. And as you can see on the bottom of your screen, you can sign that petition [President Trump, Investigate British Subversion of the U.S.A."] and spread it to others at the link, http://lpac.co/yt17. We'll have that link on the webpage for this week's webcast as well. [https://larouchepac.com/20170811/larouchepac-friday-webcast-will-wertz].

So spread the word. We've got to defeat this coup; it's absolutely urgent to free up the United States to have a functioning Presidency, so we can take on matters that are actually important to our future, like implementing Glass-Steagall, putting in place the economic proposals of LaRouche, the Four Laws, to make it possible to finance an economic recovery and to do so in conjunction with China, with Russia, to put the world on a path towards development and progress. Help make that happen: Please contribute to the LaRouchePAC.

Will, I'd like to thank you for being on the show today, I think you really put together a very comprehensive picture on this, and we'll see everybody again, next week.
